The Writer's Haven Show with V. Helena

The Writer's Haven Show with V. Helena Set to Launch New Season

Ninth season of The Writer's Haven Show with V. Helena will launch on January 1, 2025.

BOWIE, MD (November 20, 2024) - The Writer's Haven Show, hosted by author and filmmaker V. Helena is entering its 9th season! The Writer's Haven Show (fondly referred to as, The Haven, by its fanbase) highlights the work of national and international writers of literature, music, television, film, and theatre. It is a televised forum of creative ideas that has become the epicenter for artists to engage in one-on-one conversation with V. Helena to discuss their passion, process, and projects and inspire dreamers on similar paths.

Capping off the 8th season of The Writer's Haven Show, V. Helena featured guests such as award-winning author and screenplay writer, Brian W. Smith; award-winning and best-selling author Reshonda Tate, New York Times best-selling author Victoria Christopher Murray and many artists in exclusive one-on-one interviews discussing upcoming projects and showcasing their inspiring journey to success.

"The Haven is a creative space for aspiring and accomplished writers across genres to connect and share their artistry—it's a televised forum of ideas and inspiration...a place to catch fire on purpose," states V. Helena, Executive Producer and Host of The Writer's Haven Show. "I'm excited about our 7-year journey in this space, and the endless possibilities to come." V. Helena is working on a television series for one of the major streaming channels and a reality show set to move to production in 2025. She's also planning the release of a debut novel in 2026.

The new season will kick off in January featuring award-winning mother and daughter writing team, Jewell Parker Rhodes and Kelly McWilliams; critically acclaimed authors Bernice L. McFadden and Lauren Frances-Sharma; award-winning author and screenplay writer, Tiffany L. Warren and many others as part of its focus to exclusively feature celebrated creatives in an effort to bring audiences the captivating chance to hear from experienced artists in their respective crafts. This transition will continue V. Helena's pledge to provide viewers an in-depth perspective of industry advice from writers across artistic genres.
